

Dear Friends,

My father was a Fire Sprinkler Contractor who once told me that the work of protecting both life and property is more than a responsibility, it's a privilege.

For over 25 years the team behind Risk Suppression Partners has had the privilege to support many great Fire & Life Safety Contractors throughout the country through risk management, insurance and claims services. From incredibly run and organized fab shops, to exceptional in-house design teams, customer focused & truly capable service & inspection teams, and the pride of craftsmanship in well-constructed systems, the culture of being a great contractor does stand out. Our process seeks to find and work with not only great contractors, but additionally great agents and brokers who believe in managing risk and want a partner who sees insurance as a service and not a commodity. The goal of Risk Suppression Partners is to assist great contractors in additionally becoming great risks by providing the necessary tools, education and insurance insights to best protect their business and their work.

We appreciate that the profession of being a Fire & Life Safety contractor is not without its hardships, especially when performing work as a sub-contractor. Dealing with the contractual liability and exposures this work brings requires a dedicated insurance partner who is part of your industry and seeks to continually learn about your business. At Risk Suppression Partners you will find members of the NFPA 25 Technical Committee, a state Fire Sprinkler Association Board Member, and members of various NFSA & AFSA committees including the NFSA E&S committee. From time to time you will see us teaching classes for the above-named associations as well as SFPE & ASCET and contribute to publications such as FPC and Sprinkler Quarterly. We are not merely insurance providers, we are industry partners.

The role of insurance can be complex which is why we specialize and focus on the General Liability exposure, additionally supporting excess & umbrella, pollution and professional needs. Insurance should be more than just a policy. Risk Suppression Partners is committed to bringing value to the insurance transaction that is often underserved in specialty markets like Fire Suppression. We believe in our culture and approach to this market and look forward to sharing it with you.
